Young People's Mental Health & Crisis: Insight and Interventions for Parents

Emerge Advocacy is a youth work charity whose teams works with young people attending A&E because of self-harm, emotional crisis and suicidal thoughts. Having spoken with many families with young people in A&E, we have designed this training to give parents insight into these issues, equipping them to help their young people cope better, in order to avoid problems reaching crisis point.

Session Content:

The Umbrella Model: How harmful coping strategies evolve, why 'just stopping' doesn't work, and finding creative, healthier ways of coping.

Helpful Adults: What parents can do to maintain trust and openness with their young people.

Sources of Support: Understand the role of NHS mental health services and learn about additional options for support.

The Self-Harm Continuum: Understanding the underlying motivations and roles of self-harming behaviours.

Drama vs Empowerment: How to avoid unhealthy relationship dynamics and shift towards a united approach.

Your next steps: A chance to reflect on what you're taking away from the course.
